

SCHOOL OF HUMANITIES

Research Seminar Series 2015

Weds 7 October 2015 2.00pm

English – 'Guidebooks, Ghostliness, and the Brontës: Charting the Path from the 'Silent Country' to the Séance'

Dr Amber Pouliot (Teaching Fellow in British Studies, University of Evansville at Harlaxton College UK)
Hardy Seminar Room Three (Robert Hardy Building)

Weds 21 October 2015 1.00pm

History – 'Landscapes of Nazi Intelligence: German spies in America & the curious case of Herbert Karl Friedrich Bahr'

Dr Claire Hubbard-Hall (Senior Lecturer in History, BGU)
Hardy Seminar Room Three (Robert Hardy Building)

Weds 4 November 2015 1.00pm

English – 'In Youth is Pleasure: William S. Burroughs' Unlikely Affinity with the Work of Denton Welch'

Dr Thom Robinson, (Visiting Tutor in English, BGU)
Hardy Seminar Room Two (Robert Hardy Building)

Weds 18 November 2015 1.00pm

History – 'Degeneration and Demagoguery: exploring the dark side of caricature in the French Second Republic, 1848-1851'

Dr Jack Rhoden (Visiting Tutor in History, BGU)
The John Tomlinson Room (Joyce Skinner Building)

Thurs 26 November 2015 1.00pm

English – 'Light & Shade: Contemporary Portraits of Tennyson'

Dr Jane Darcy (Honorary Lecturer in English, University College London) Constance Stewart Hall
Room 2 (Constance Stewart Building)

Weds 9 December 2015 1.00pm

History – 'Maintaining Morale in RAF Bomber Command: David Stafford-Clark and the Medical Officer's "Great Responsibility" 1939 – 1945'

Dr Dan Ellin (Digital Archive Manager, International Bomber Command Centre & University of Lincoln)
Hardy Seminar Room Three (Robert Hardy Building)

The School of Humanities is pleased to launch its first multidisciplinary research seminar series. Each seminar provides a relaxed forum in which BGU academics, academics from other universities and postgraduates can connect and converse in an informal intellectual research environment.

Seminars last for one hour, including a 30-40 minutes presentation about a current piece of research, followed by a 20-30 minutes discussion. Everyone is welcome and light refreshments are offered.

For further information, please contact the convenors:

Dr Claudia Capancioni,
Senior Lecturer in English
claudia.capancioni@bishopg.ac.uk
01522 583740

Dr Claire Hubbard-Hall,
Senior Lecturer in History
claire.hubbard-hall@bishopg.ac.uk
01522 583736.

BISHOP
GROSSETESTE
UNIVERSITY