

UCL Museums

Grant Museum of Zoology

Petrie Museum of Egyptian and Sudanese Archaeology

UCL Art Museum

Grant Museum of Zoology

The Grant Museum of Zoology has around 68,000 zoological specimens, including the world's rarest skeleton, the quagga; thylacine specimens; dodo bones and a fine collection of models.

The Grant Museum will temporarily close for a period of refurbishment between March and September 2023 inclusive. We plan to programme family events to take place either offsite or online.

www.ucl.ac.uk/culture/grant-museum-zoology

The Micrarium, featuring over 2,000 tiny members of the animal kingdom

Petrie Museum of Egyptian and Sudanese Archaeology

The Petrie Museum of Egyptian and Sudanese Archaeology houses just over 80,600 objects relating to life and death along the Nile Valley, making it one of the largest collections of Egyptian and Sudanese archaeology in the world.

It includes many world 'firsts' such as the Tarkhan dress, the oldest known, most complete garment in the world.

www.ucl.ac.uk/culture/petrie-museum

Limestone head of Min-Amun, Tutankhamun the Boy:
Growing Up in Ancient Egypt display

UCL Art Museum

UCL Art Museum is home to the university's collection of sculptures, paintings, prints and drawings from the 1490s to the present day.

Situated within a traditional Print Room, it houses over 10,000 works of art including iconic works by British greats such as Gwen John, Paula Rego and J.M.W Turner.

www.ucl.ac.uk/culture/ucl-art-museum

End scene of performative piece produced by The Place London Contemporary Dance School students, Oct 2022