

In some parts of the country cliffs begin to erod because of the constant battering of the sea. as more and more of the land collapse the owner of hotls motls find themselves near and near to the ege of the cliff. They feel hopless and desprate. There is nothink they can do to prevent this horrible disturbance to their live.

Some people pack their cloths and just go. Gradully there are fewer and fewer man, woman and childrn living in the zone. Those that are left become very lonly as they wait for the cliff to erod.
