South West Asia and North Africa (S.W.A.N.A.) Forum for Social Justice (SWANA-FSJ) is a UCL student-led community that is open to academics and non-academics interested in issues of social justice in formal and nonformal education systems in the SWANA region.

We use the more inclusive and geographic term S.W.A.N.A., and not Middle East and North Africa (MENA), Near East, Arab World or Islamic World as they are associated with colonial, Eurocentric, Orientalist and Arabocentric perspectives that have been hegemonising and restricting the region and dehumanising the people.

We speak up for our indigenous diverse communities in seeking liberation and social justice.
